Personal Author: Atkinson, Alan,
Title: The Europeans in Australia. Volume two, Democracy / Alan Atkinson.
Edition: 2nd edition.
Publication info: Sydney, NSW : NewSouth Publishing, 2016.
Copyright date: ©2016
Physical descrip: xxxi, 568 pages ; 24 cm.
ISBN: 9781742234977 (paperback)

Annotation: "This book gives an account of early settlement by Britain. It tells of the political and intellectual origins of this extraordinary undertaking that began during the 1780s, a decade of extraordinary creativity and the climax of the European Enlightenment. Volume Two, Democracy, takes the story from around 1815 to the early 1870s. By exploring the nineteenth-century 'communications revolution' Atkinson casts new light on the way Australia first found its place in a 'global' world. This volume is more than a story of geography and politics. It describes the way people thought and felt. Throughout the trilogy Atkinson traces subtle and sudden shifts of 'common imagination' by analysing the lives of both powerful and ordinary Australians. He sets out the ideas and the imagery that moved and marked the people. This book is grounded in thorough and rigorous scholarship yet imbued with compassion and insight. Written 'from the inside, it is history 'caught up with the flesh and memory it describes'. The culmination of an extraordinary career in the writing and teaching of Australian history, The Europeans in Australia grapples with the Australian historical experience as a whole from the point of view of the settlers from Europe. Ambitious and unique, it is the first such large, single-author account since Manning Clark's A History of Australia." (from cover).

Abstract: Tells the story of Kookoo, a kind and well-loved kookaburra who is famous for entertaining the other bush creatures with his funny stories. Everyone knows Kookoo has a special gift because he tells funny stories about the other animals without hurting their feelings. However, when Kookoo runs out of kind stories he turns to teasing and making fun of his friends' differences. Refusing to listen to the sage advice of his uncle, Kookoo gradually alienates all his friends until he finds himself alone and ignored by the other animals. When he finally listens to the sounds of his own laughter echoing around the bush and realises it has become an unhappy sound, Kookoo is forced to remember his uncle's words and change his ways: kindness is like a boomerang - if you throw it often, it comes back often.

Annotation: In this humble, charming and humorous morality tale, Maliyan is a proud eagle who always looks, listens and sees things from a long way away. One day he meets the turkey Wagun, who is a silly bird, and together these two new friends begin to do silly-bird things. The Elders and Maliyan's parents become very disappointed and soon the local billabong becomes a mess. The silly birds do not care for anyone and seem to have eaten all the food. Maliyan begins to see the error of his ways and tries to talk to Wagun and the other birds about their actions. No one listens. So Maliyan flies away and begins the journey of listening again. Maliyan soon becomes a proud leader and all the silly birds begin to follow his example. They all help clean up the messes they have made. All except one.

Title: Southeastern Australia : level of social organization

Annotation: Answers question; Are the social and political patterns known for any of the Aboriginal tribes of southeastern Australia sufficiently distinct to warrant a placement of these hunters at a different social level than other Australian Aboriginals; Briefly lists early writers who mention kings and chiefs, leadership in southeastern Australia not essentially different from other parts of the continent; Social stratification in the form of transmission of group leadership from father to son discussed; Contest Services statement on change in complexity of social organization from rich coastal areas to arid desert areas; Compares nonresidential special-purpose groups in Service for both desert and coastal tribes with similar details in Howitt for Kurnai and Gournditchmara and his own work on the Tiwi; Attempts to evaluate assertions of Tindale and Birdsell that the Kamilaroi and Wiradjuri show a more advanced political organization and using concepts of hereditary transmission of group leadership, social complexity and matrilineal descent suggests; assertions are not proven

Annotation: "A hundred years ago, Australia was home to the 'ethnomaniacs', an unruly brigade of self-taught researchers, united only in their quest to document Aboriginal life before its presumed extinction. R.H. Mathews, an Australian born surveyor and self-styled 'quiet worker', was the most maligned of these figures, and according to historian Martin Thomas the most undervalued. After a formative encounter with a cave painting north of Sydney, Mathews converted to anthropology and devoted the remainder of his life to creating a vast corpus of writings on Aboriginal cultures, focused on south-east Australia. His work is now quoted routinely in native title claims and heritage studies, and as the full scope of his achievement comes to be recognised, he emerges as one of our most important documentors of Aboriginal language, society and mythology." -- back cover

Title: Brewarrina : an Australian story / Diane Austin-Broos

Publication date: 2015

Annotation: Reviews the Aboriginal Studies Press publication Protests, land rights and riots. Postcolonial struggles in Australia in the 1980s by Barry Morris; "This short paper discusses Barry Morris's account of the 'riot' at Brewarrina, New South Wales, in 1987 and its legal aftermath, which continued for some years. An iconic event in Australian race relations, much can be learnt from its various dimensions, a fact that Morris amply demonstrates. Notwithstanding, this discussion questions a related narrative in his book, which interprets capitalism's impact on self-determination simply in terms of neoliberalism's political effects. The paper seeks to broaden the discussion of the relations between the state and self-determination, and between capitalism and race." [author's abstract]

Title: Thematic history of the former Coonabarabran Shire / Ray Christison

Publication info: [Lithgow, N.S.W.] : High Ground Consulting, 2006

Physical descrip: 96 pages : colour illustrations ; 30 cm

Annotation: "This thematic history has been prepared as part of a community based heritage study undertaken in the former Coonabarabran Shire, now Warrumbungle Shire, in 2005-2006. It acknowledges work of local researchers in recording development of the region.

Published and unpublished local history resources, and national reference materials, have been referred to in the preparation of this history, and as far as possible the recollections of current and former residents of the shire have been included in the study. The area covered by the former Coonabarabran Shire sits at the convergence of the territories of three Aboriginal language groups, the Gamilaraay to the northeast, the Wiradjuri to the south and the Wayilwan to the west, which are covered in this publication." -- From introduction

Annotation: "This book provides a guide to the Aboriginal languages of New South Wales and the Australian Capital Territory, and to the current state of information about them. Part A has two main aims: to show (a) which dialects belong together as variant forms of the same language, and (b) which languages belong together as related members of a group; and to provide information about the current state of these languages, and a guide to the resources available for language revitalisation, including a bibliography. It covers 14 language groups, with additional chapters on contact languages, sign languages and terms used in kin classification, as well as two bibliographic appendices: one on placenames, the other based on the work of N. B. Tindale. Part B presents a word-list for each language, with an account of the sources used in compiling it, and an overview of the languages phonology."--Provided by publisher, annotation pending

Title: Aboriginal cultural showcase : art of the Tamworth

Country Music Festival

Publication info: [2015?]-

Physical descrip: 1 online resource (website)

Abstract: "The Tamworth Country Music Festival (TCMF) draws Aboriginal visitors and performers, and Country Music enthusiasts from all over Australia, and is a major nurturing ground for musical and artistic talent. The Aboriginal Cultural Showcase is a community based event run as part of the TCMF which is designed to provide Aboriginal people from all over Australia with the opportunity to perform and develop their skills as part of this great event. The Showcase has the specific goal of providing new and emerging talents with exposure and skills development opportunities. In order to achieve this we put on a flexible program of shows to include everyone from first time walk-ups to experienced artists. In addition to our music program that includes a range of performance, walk-up and mentoring opportunities, the Aboriginal Cultural Showcase has a developing cultural workshop program which has proved very popular with visitors. To date we have featured didge playing, dance and weaving and we are looking for cultural practitioners with a range of other skills who can get audiences involved and learning about the richness of Aboriginal culture as part of our event." -- [From About page]

Title: Wagga Wagga Airport Weavers' Project

Publication info: *2014

Physical descrip: 1 online resource : colour illustrations

Abstract: "The Wagga Wagga Airport Terminal has undergone a new decorating project called the 'Wagga Wagga weaving welcome' by local Wiradjuri elders, Aunty Sandy Warren and Aunty Lorraine Tye, and Ngaympaa elder Aunty Joyce Hampton, together with Wiradjrui/Kamilaroi artist Jonathan Jones. Uncle Stan Grant's Welcome in Wiradjuri are also notable. The project has turned their weaving creations into hand-stained sandblasted images that have been placed on the glass walls of the terminal. The images celebrate the traditional Aboriginal weaving practices of the south-east, which continue to be an important part of contemporary cultural life. "--Taken from Sharing and Learning blog
